DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. In Amendment "A", filed July 15, 2002 (see file wrapper paper no. 7), claims 1, 10, 15-20, 29 and 30 were amended; and claim 32 was added. Claims 1-32 are presented for examination.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 29 and 32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 29, the word "system" is employed in an attempt to use a "means" clause to recite claim elements as a means for "generating a story". However, since no "means" is specified preceding the disclosure of the elemental functions, it is impossible to determine the equivalents of the element, as required by 35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph. The disclosed claim 29, cites a system for performing a specified function, but fails to disclose the necessary system elements (e.g., means plus function). See Ex parte Klumb, 159 USPQ 694 (Bd. App. 1967).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

5. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

6. Claim 32 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the invention as disclosed in claim 32 is directed to non-statutory subject matter. While the claims are in the technological arts, they are not limited to practical applications in the technological arts.

Specifically, the claim is a series of steps to be performed on a computer, but the idea is disclosed abstractly from any particular practical application. Further, claim 32 focuses on a method for generating a story, but fails to explicitly teach of the steps which encompass the computer implemented method for theme based story generation.

To constitutionally interpret the word "process", the Supreme Court has held that:

"***A process is a mode of treatment of certain materials to produce a given result. It is an act, or a series of acts, performed upon the subject matter to be transformed and reduced to a different state or thing. ***The Process requires that certain things should be done with certain substances, and in a certain order; but the tools to be used in doing this may be a secondary consequence." (emphasis added) Diamond, Commission of Patents and Trademarks v. Diehr and Lutton, 209 USPQ 1, 6 (1981) quoting Cochrane v. Deener, 94 U.S. 780, 787-788 (1876).

This Constitutional interpretation of the word "process" is a long-standing one that the Supreme Court requires to be applied in interpreting 35 USC 101. Diamond v. Diehr at 6. Consequently, the us of that interpretation is Constitutionally required when we interpret the Federal Circuit's standard that a "new and useful process" is one that produces a useful, concrete, and tangible result". Cf. State Street Bank & Trust Co. v. Signature Financial Group, Inc., 47 USPO2d 1596, 1600-1601 (Fed. Cir. 1998).

Applicant discloses no "certain substances" that have been "transformed or reduced" in that applicant's claims disclose no specific computer-readable medium, no manipulation of specific data representing physical objects or activities (pre-computer activity), nor do they disclose any specific independent physical acts being performed by the invention (post-computer activity).

The claims merely manipulate abstract ideas in general without limitation to a practical application where "certain substances" are transformed or reduced.

On this basis, claim 32 is rejected under 35 USC 101.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 1-28, 30 and 31 are allowed.

Application/Control Number: 09/471,689

Art Unit: 2121

8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the cited prior art fails to explicitly teach of a theme based method of automatically generating a story wherein elements of the theme are expound upon in a simulation engine for generating a plot, which employs knowledge generated characters, relationships and events.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
